WORLDWIDE FREQUENCY MAP

Depending on the type of product, Tele Radio supplies wireless remote controls that work on 433 MHz, 869 MHz, 915 MHz or 2.4 GHz. Some of these frequencies can only be used licence-free in certain countries or parts of the world. The 2.4 GHz frequency is the only one available for worldwide use.

It is important to know what frequencies are available in your country and what application you want to control, before making your choice from the Tele Radio range.

The map at the right gives an indication of the available frequencies in areas of the world. However they can differ locally. Want to know the correct frequencies in certain countries? Contact your Tele Radio representative for all details.

WHERE IT CAN BE SAFE, IT MUST BE SAFE

The Tele Radio products are perfectly tailored to the needs of the industry. Both universal products and customized solutions contributing to a more ergonomic and safer workspace.

Our products are innovative. Combining the use of smart software, special protocols, quality components, robust and ergonomically designed housings, the systems are in use by companies looking for the most reliable and secure wireless controller.

Various Tele Radio products apply to the highest safety standards (CAT3, PLd, SIL3, PLe). To secure the safety, most of our products are independently certified by notified bodies. That is exceptional. But we want you to be 100% sure about the safety level of our products.
